

Please support diversity of viewpoints by providing the public's input into the decision-making process of determining what the future of the media control will be--whether monopolies of great magnitude will replace our democratic way-of-life of providing many different takes on any one issue, and, thereby, allowing the American citizen a chance to decide for himself/herself. The people of the United States of America need a choice by having meetings open to the general public that are well publicized in a timely and concise fashion.
